

Professional Development/Scholarship Chair – Molly Davis

Molly is an Assistant Director of Admissions at Illinois State University. She is responsible for overseeing the success of the campus visitor experience and recruitment events. She works closely with her team on all visit and event logistics, student staff management, and future planning. Before this role, Molly spent four years as a communication project manager and writer in the Office of Admissions and at a local nonprofit. She is still very involved in all communications related to campus visits and events. Molly holds a Master of Science in Communication and a Bachelor of Science in Public Relations, both from Illinois State University. She loves spending time with her family, reading, and playing the piano.
